PREFACE TO FOURTH EDITION.

THE rapid sale of the first three editions of this little Work is a gratifying proof that it has been appreciated by the public, and that the ability to make real English Point Lace is an accomplishment desired by more than a few. With the view of further assisting such ladies, the present Edition is offered. The little Work has been revised, and the Stitches are engraved in an enlarged form as simply as possible.

The Publisher of the present Hand Book has already issued a series of Designs upon leather ready for working, which embrace a very great variety of styles and adaptations of this truly elegant work, and it is his intention from time to time to issue others as they may be required.

POINT LACE.

THIS Lace, possessing the great advantages of durability and excessive beauty, is one of the most fashionable accomplishments of English as well as continental ladies, and is also one of the favourite varieties of Fancy Work now so much practised. It is adapted to almost all articles of ladies' dress, from the most costly to the simplest, such as Dress-flouncing, Collars, Parasol Covers, Sleeves, Trimmings for Children's Dresses, &c. This work has always been fashionable, and, from time immemorial, has been worn by the most exalted personages in every country, and has been prized by its fortunate possessors more highly than any other lace. Unlike other laces and most of the ornamental products of our day, Point Lace cannot be made by machinery, but must be the work of delicate fingers. As there are many different stitches used in Point Lace making, we have given drawings and descriptions of thirty-four, which will be found sufficient for all practicable purposes; so that a lady may, with patience, produce beautiful pieces of Point Lace, such as have, in many families, passed from generation to generation as heir-looms, and may, moreover, work to her own design, opening up a field for the display of taste and imagination almost boundless. There are added a series of Designs by an eminent artist, which it is hoped will be appreciated.

At the suggestion of ladies who have largely practised—and greatly admire this work—Black Silk Braid and Lace Silk have been specially prepared for making this Lace. The effect of this Black Lace is exceedingly rich, and is well adapted for trimming Black Velvet, &c. The general instructions for working are the same, and the same designs may be used.

MATERIALS.

The materials required for this work are :—

DESIGNS.

Evans' Point Lace Cotton
Taylor's Mecklenburg Thread
Thread Lace Braid
French Hand-made Lace Braids, of various widths
Linen Braid
Black Silk Braid

Black Lace Silk
Transparent Tracing Cloth
Liquid Indian Ink
Point Lace Needles
Scissors, &c.
Toile ciré
Point Lace Cord

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS.

AFTER having selected the design you intend to work, trace it from the pattern on a piece of transparent tracing cloth with Indian ink (which may be obtained ready for use at any Artists' Repository), and one of Gillott's lithographic pens. Should the tracing cloth not be found sufficiently firm for continued working, tack it upon toile ciré; then put on the braid by tacking it across with wide herring-bone stitches, which will keep it in place; this is much better than tacking it in the centre, as is very often done, but which renders the edges full, and the lace irregular, greatly marring its beauty. When a curve or circle is required, slightly stretch the braid with the fingers to keep it the same width while arranging it according to the design, and holding it tightly while working it. It should be observed in cases of curves, the braid requires to be tacked on the outer edge first. In the inner side of the curve the braid will be found a little full; it should be finely and carefully whipped, and then tacked down in the required form. To join corners, parts of leaves, angles, &c., tack the braid down on both edges, press it with the fingers to flatten it, and then continue as before, making as few joins as possible. Always carefully and securely fasten off both the ends of the braid and the thread; the former by sewing over the same end and turning it under, the latter by working three or four tight button-hole stitches before cutting it off. In choosing the cottons, &c., be careful to select such as will be suitable for the size and strength of the work required. For lace for ordinary purposes, Taylor's Mecklenburg Linen Thread, Nos. 8, 9, or 10 for bars, and Evans' Point Lace Cotton, Nos. 30, 36, or 40 for the lace stitches. Some ladies prefer using Mecklenburg Linen Thread for all; in that case Nos. 16 and 20 are most suitable sizes for the lace stitches. It may be added, if the spaces are large wherein the lace stitches are to be worked, a coarser size should be used.

The braids employed in the Point Lace making are various. Lace braid, linen, and French lacet are all used; the first-mentioned being most suitable if a light and elegant lace be desired; the linen braid for a rich heavy looking lace; and Point Lace cord is now much used, greatly enriching its appearance.

THE DESIGNS.

The Designs are drawn the full size for working, and will be found suitable for a variety of purposes. The description and illustrations are herein given of each of the stitches employed in the designs, as well as the directions for working; any of the other stitches may be substituted, according to the worker's taste. The braids are also drawn of the exact size required.

The materials for any design may be obtained at WM. BARNARD'S Needlework Repository, 119, Edgware Road, London, W.

POINT LACE STITCHES.

No. 1.—BRUSSELS EDGING

Is the name given to a continuation of button-hole stitches, not, however, close together. There should be a little space between each, as will be seen in our illustration; the distance should be the $\frac{1}{2}$ th of an inch; the thread must be left loose, so that a small loop is formed on every stitch.

No. 2.—VENETIAN EDGING.

Work this stitch similar to the previous one, with one exception,—there must be four tight button-hole stitches in every loop. This stitch and the Brussels Edging must be commenced at the left side, and worked to the right.

No. 3.—LITTLE VENETIAN EDGING.

This is also a similar stitch to the Brussels, No. 1, but in this case every stitch is firm. Make a succession of button-hole stitches, with one tight stitch in every loop.

No. 4.—SORRENTO EDGING.

This stitch is not worked at equal distances, as in the three preceding, but with one stitch every eighth of an inch, and one every sixteenth of an inch distant. It is worked in the same way as the "Little Venetian."

No. 5.—VENETIAN BARS

Are lengths of thread of two or more thicknesses, according to the size required, and covered with button-hole stitches as thickly as they can be placed in succession. To do this, make a straight line across the space allotted to this stitch, and cover it closely with button-hole stitches; pass the thread to wherever the next bar is required, and proceed as before. Venetian Bars form a suitable groundwork when the design is chiefly composed of flowers and leaves.

No. 6.—EDGED VENETIAN BARS.

A description of these bars it is scarcely needful to give. They are constructed simply by working either of the first four edgings on bars, made in precisely the same way as the Venetian Bars.

No. 7.—SORRENTO BARS.

To work these, pass the cotton from left to right, securing it firmly at both ends; then twist the needle round the cotton bar thus formed as many times as you well can, and attach it to the place where you commenced.

No. 8.—DOTTED VENETIAN BARS

Are worked like the Venetian Bars, but, after every fifth or sixth stitch, leave one loose, and upon it work three or four button-hole stitches. These Dotted Bars form the richest groundwork for Point Lace generally.

No. 9.—RALEIGH BARS.

Commence making a Venetian Bar; but after every eighth or tenth stitch put the needle into the top of the last stitch worked, and twist the left hand cotton of the loop thus formed round the needle five or six times; pull it through, and pass the needle again into the last button-hole stitch, and continue.

No. 10.—POINT D'ALENÇON

Is worked in a similar manner to the ordinary herring-bone stitch; the needle should, however, in most cases, have the cotton twisted round it twice or oftener, according to the space and strength of the work.

No. 11.—ENGLISH BARS.

These bars are very useful for filling up any space between two pieces of braid that are edged with either Brussels or Venetian edging; they are worked by passing the thread from side to side through two opposite loops or stitches. Care must be taken that the needle passes from the under side of one stitch and the upper side of the other.

No. 12.—ENGLISH ROSETTE.

Begin by making Sorrento Bars across the space from side to side, then commence from the centre by passing the needle under and over the alternate threads until the proper size is obtained; fasten off by passing your needle round the last bar and into the braid with two or three button-hole stitches. Our engraving shows three bars,—four or more may be put; it slightly increases the amount of work, but makes it handsomer.

No. 13.—SPANISH POINT.

Fasten as many threads of soft cotton on your work as may be required for the design, to give the work a massive or raised effect; then work from side to side with button-hole stitches, which must be worked close together and quite smooth. The edge may be finished as occasion requires with No. 8 or 9.

No. 14.—BRUSSELS LACE.

As this is one of the most useful for filling in, a little practice is necessary to make the work look even and nicely done. It simply consists of button-hole stitches placed at little distances from each other, and worked backwards and forwards until the required space be filled.

No. 15.—VENETIAN LACE

Consists of a number of rows of Venetian edging (all of which must be worked from left to right). In order to do this, when one row is complete, pass the thread across the space to the left side again, and continue the Venetian stitches, working the straight line of thread in with the stitches of previous row.

No. 16.—SORRENTO LACE.

This grounding may be worked both ways, the same as the Sorrento Edging. In the second, and all succeeding rows, care must be taken that the longer loop should be placed over the two shorter stitches of preceding row.

No. 17.—ENGLISH LACE

Is made by filling a given space with threads crossing each other at right angles, about the eighth of an inch apart. When all are done, commence making the spots by fastening your thread to the braid, and twisting the needle round the thread until you come to where the first threads cross each other, then pass your needle under and over the crossed threads until you have a spot sufficiently large. It is an improvement to make the centre dot large, and gradually work them smaller to the outer edge, or the reverse.

No. 18.—OPEN ENGLISH LACE

Is made in the same way as the last, with the exception that four threads cross each other, and the spots are only placed where the four actually cross. This has a very beautiful effect if the horizontal and upright threads are considerably coarser than the other two.

No. 19.—HENRIQUE LACE

Is worked by fastening the thread very firmly on the braid with one or two button-hole stitches, then pass the needle to the opposite side, and fasten it again in the same way ; pass the needle round the first thread until the two threads appear one, fasten off at the place you commenced from ; take another thread about the twelfth of an inch from the first, twist it twice round, and darn a spot on the two threads, twist six or seven times round and make another spot, and repeat to the end. Make all the lines in one direction before commencing the opposite, and be very careful to let all the dots fall evenly one under another.

No. 20.—CORDOVAN LACE.

Same as Henrique Lace, but with three threads instead of two.

No. 21.—VALENCIENNES LACE

Must be worked very firmly with a number of threads, straight across the space very closely, then, in the opposite direction, commence darning evenly : when finished, it should resemble the finest cambric. This is best for small spaces.

No. 22.—FOUNDATION STITCH

Is the regular button-hole stitch worked as closely as possible, the thread is taken from right to left across the space, to form a bar, which is then worked from left to right with Brussels edge, very closely; each stitch is worked between two of the stitches in the row below it, and requires great nicety in working.

No. 23.—CLOSE DIAMOND.

In commencing this lace, let all your threads be placed one way at about the tenth of an inch apart; commence darning, by passing your needle under and over the cross threads, leaving spaces as shown in our engraving. This is a very useful lace for filling large openings.

No. 24.—OPEN DIAMOND

Is done in the same way as the last.

No. 25.—BRUNSWICK LACE

Is done in the same way as the two former.

No. 26.—ESCALIER STITCH.

Work nine button-hole stitches close to each other, miss the space of three and repeat to the end of the thread in the second and all succeeding rows, commence them three from the end, and it will bring your open space as in the engraving.

No. 27.—ANTWERP LACE

Is worked similar to the last, leaving the space of four stitches open, work four button-hole stitches, leave the space of four, work twelve, leaving the space of four, work four and repeat, in the next row work twenty, leave the space of four, work twenty, and repeat to the end.

No. 28.—CADIZ LACE.

In the first row work six close button-hole stitches, miss the space of two, work two more, miss two, then work six and repeat, in the second row work two over each space on the row already done, and miss each part where stitches are worked, the third row will be same as the first, repeat alternately.

No. 29.—FAN LACE

Is worked alternately with six close Brussels stitches, missing the space of six alternately ; next row work five button-hole stitches on the top of the six close stitches of previous row, leaving the spaces as in the engraving ; third row, same as first, only reversing the spaces.

No. 30.—BARCELONA LACE

Is like the Sorrento edging in the first row, the second row has four tight stitches worked in the wide space, the third is the same as the first.

No. 31.—SPOTTED LACE.

Work two close button-hole stitches, miss the space of six, work two and repeat ; each row is the same,—this is very beautiful if worked evenly.

No. 32.—OPEN ANTWERP LACE.

Work eight Brussels stitches close together, miss one, work eight and repeat to the end, work five over the eight, two close on the loop and repeat; in the third row, two close over the five, and five close over the two, repeat; fourth row, five close stitches over the two, and two over the five. These are all the rows required to form the pattern, and must be repeated to fill the space required.

No. 33.—VENETIAN SPOTTED LACE.

This lace is well adapted to fill large spaces; it is a series of diamonds of Venetian bars, crossing each other alternately; in each opening there are four spots of English lace worked.

No. 34.—MECHLIN WHEELS.

Work Venetian bars across the opening at regular distances, crossing each other at right angles, then work, as in English lace, a circle, but leave your thread very loose, after passing four or five times round, proceed to cover all four with close button-hole stitches, run your thread to the next cross, and work in the same way.

This is as far as we need to go with the Point Lace stitches; their variety is almost countless, but those we have chosen are the most generally useful, and by a little careful consideration any lady may be able to work the most beautiful Point Lace.

STAINED WINDOWS, BY THE IMPROVED TRANSFER PROCESS OF DIAPHANIE.

The work may be easily performed by any person, and at small cost. It completely supersedes all kinds of Blinds. It bears a close resemblance to the costly Stained Glass of the old process, over which, however, it possesses some important advantages. It is applicable to Windows of all kinds,—Church, Staircase, Conservatory, &c., which may be decorated speedily, with ease, and in any style.

Full particulars and instructions, with 26 Lithographic Plates (Stained Windows), may be obtained, price 1s., postage free.

PHOTO-CHROMOGRAPHY;

An easy Method of Colouring Photographs, producing a Beautifully Enamelled Appearance.

By this simple process any person unaccustomed to painting, and ignorant of art, may colour Photographs, and produce, with rapidity and little trouble, effective, permanent, and beautiful pictures, so soft and delicate as to closely resemble painting on enamel; may render the treasured family portrait doubly valuable by adding the warm tints of life to the faithful but cold and death-like production of the photographer, and produce a pleasing as well as a truthful representation. The largest and the smallest work may be painted with equal facility,—the life-size portrait or a miniature for a locket,—the only qualification for success, even in elaborate pictures, being taste in the arrangement of the colours.

A reasonable objection to Colouring Photographs, as colouring has hitherto been practised,—that the delicate truthfulness of nature's drawings was injured, and sometimes a likeness wholly destroyed, through being obscured by the colourist in the working, and at best, that the only guarantee of fidelity was the talent of the artist,—is by the beautifully simple process under consideration completely removed, as all the softness, lights, and shadows of the photograph are preserved.

Instructions and particulars may be obtained, postage free, price 6d.

DECALCOMANIE;

The New and Beautiful Art of Transferring instantly to China, Glass, Wood, &c., to imitate exactly the most Beautiful Pictures.

Decalcomanie is the Art of Transferring Pictures to Glass, China, Wood, Leather, Silk, and other Fabrics. It is simple to perform, durable, and very effective. The Designs are printed upon paper so prepared, that after the coloured portions are cemented to the surface of the article intended to be decorated, by simply damping the back of the sheet of paper, it may be at once and entirely removed; and the finished work exactly resembles painting, nothing but the Coloured Design remaining upon the work.

POTICHOMANIE.

All Materials for this beautiful and easily-performed Art, including Vases of Elegant Patterns, the best Designs, Colours, &c. Pamphlets 6d., postage free.

GUTTA-PERCHA MODELLING, MATERIALS FOR WAX-FLOWER MAKING, AND EVERY OTHER ELEGANT ART.

LONDON: W. BARNARD, 119, EDGWARE ROAD.

NEW COLOURED LINEN CROCHET.

A novelty in Crochet, simple and effective, worked in Glanzgarn thread it forms very handsome trimming for Blinds, Cushions, Mantel Borders, Chair Backs, Curtains, &c., or in Brilliant Crochet Twist or Black Silk, a rich and effective Lace for Dresses and Mantles. There is such a variety of colours in this thread that the beautiful shades now so fashionable can easily be matched.—VIDE, "GREEN," June 18th, 1892.

Moulds are sold ready and these are Crocheted over and placed symmetrically to form patterns, and finished with an Ornamental Edging; Washing Gold is introduced to embellish the work.

A small Pattern worked would be sufficient instruction.

Brilliant Crochet Twist, and Glanzgarn Thread are sold in balls, in the following colours:—Apricot, Sage, Green, Olive, Pink, Cardinal, Blue, Strawberry, Tan, Gold, Brown, Terra-cotta, Eau-de-Nil, White and Cream.
